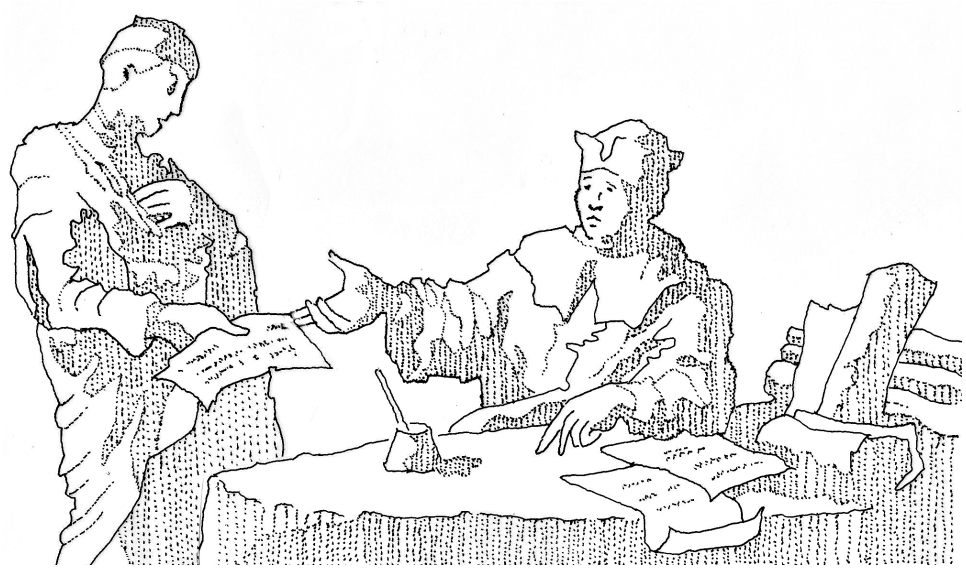
TWENTY FIFTH SUNDAY OF THE YEAR 22 SEPT 2019



"The master praised the dishonest steward for his astuteness". Jesus told this story not to encourage dishonesty but to draw attention to the foresight of the steward. All of us, Christians along with others, individuals, communities, nations and the whole human race, need to exercise stewardship, foresight, judgement and care, using the experience, skills and potentials of our God-given human ingenuity. We are the stewards and never the owners of what we possess. We have no absolute right to anything we have. Therefore "I can do what I like with my money and property because it's mine" is not a statement any committed Christian can make. The question of a successful life is not "How much did you make?" but "How did you use what you had towards creative purposes for the general welfare of all?"
